

AUTODESK UNIVERSITY 2015

How do I get access to Fusion 360?

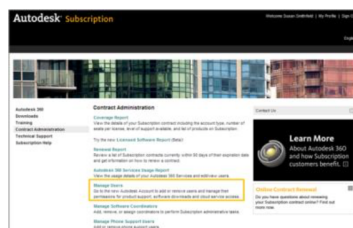

This requires two key steps, illustrated below. First, the Contract Manager or Software Coordinator must grant end users access to the Fusion 360 benefit. After this, the end user downloads Fusion 360 and signs in with the same Autodesk Account that the Contract Manager used in the assignment.

Part 1: Granting end users access to Fusion 360 (see “Setting User Permissions for Products, Services & Support” on the Autodesk Knowledge Network for more details)

If you have a Maintenance Subscription with Product Design Suite, follow these steps:
(This requires access to the user management tools in the Subscription Center.)

Sign into Subscription Center and click Contract Administration.

Click on Manage Users. This will take you to the User Management page in the Autodesk Account portal.

Within the Autodesk Account portal, continue to the instructions listed for the User Management page below (under Desktop Subscription).

If you have a Desktop Subscription for Product Design Suite, follow these steps:
(This requires access to the user management tools in Autodesk Account.)

Sign into Autodesk Account. Click on the Users icon in the left-hand navigation menu or the Manage Users button.

The User Management page shows the list of users associated with your contract. Click Edit Access to the right of a user's name in the User List. This will display the Edit Access dialog.

*pick up here

Under Products & Services in the Edit Access dialog, click on the user's Product Design Suite contract to expand the details of the available services.

Find Fusion 360 or Fusion 360 Ultimate and click on the Assign checkbox beside it. Then click Save.

As a confirmation of the changes to their account permissions, the end user will receive an email notification from Autodesk Account.

Part 2: Getting Fusion 360 and signing in with the enabled end user accounts.

Click on Access Autodesk Account in the email notification or directly go to Autodesk Account. Sign in with the same account that the contract manager used in the assignment.

In the Account tab under All Products & Services, find Fusion 360 or Fusion 360 Ultimate. Click Download Now beside it. This will download the Fusion 360 installation package. Run the installation package.

Once the installation is complete, launch Fusion 360. Sign in with the same Autodesk Account that the contract manager used in the assignment and begin your Fusion 360 experience.

